Telephone Lineman H. J. Dolon day discovered honey with currents in it day discovered noncy with currents in it when he climbed a sixty-foot pole at the corner of Jaggar avenue and Prosp.ct street, Flushing, to repair a box there.

As Dolon got near the box he heard the peculiar buzzling of honey bees, and discovered that a swarm of them had located in the box. Dolon descended the pole and sought Professor Northrup, of Fairchild's Institute, who is an expert on honey bees, for advice.

NEWARK SEES A TROLLEY FUNERAL.

Mourners Speed on Ahead to the Cemetery, While the Hearse with the Child's Body Fallows.

The first trolley car funeral that Newark has ever witnessed signalized the burial of two-year-old Florence Deleat, daughter of Frank Deleat, superintendent of the Plant road bridge across the Passalc River, on Saturday.

Owing to the demands of traffic, no effort was made to keep the car in line with the hearse. In consequence, the mourners reached the centerry gates some time ahead of the remains. A procession was The innovation was occasioned by the coffin to the grave.
